Attention is drawn to the Health and Safety (First Aid) regulations 1981 Approved Code of Practice and guidance [1] for details on guidance leaflets.

Which Kit do I require?

Similar to the old HSE kits, the content of the new BS-8599-1 Compliant Workplace First Aid Kits are appropriate for use based on a combination of the risk in the workplace and the number of employees and visitors.

The table below can be used as a guide to ascertain which compliant kit you require for your workplace - please note that it is the duty of the employer to make an assessment of the first aid needs appropriate to the circumstances of your workplace and the below table acts as a guide only.

Where there are special circumstances, such as remoteness from emergency medical services, shiftwork or sites with several separate buildings, there may be a further requirement of first aid kits than set out in Table 2.

Table 2 - Guidance of First Aid Kits sizes for a workplace environment

Category of risk	Number of employees	Number and size of first aid kit
Low risk e.g. shops, offices, libraries	Fewer than 25	1 Small Kit
	25-50	1 Medium Kit
	More than 50	1 Large Kit per 100 Employees
High risk e.g. most construction, slaughterhouse, working with chemicals	Fewer than 5	1 Small Kit
	5-25	1 Medium Kit
	More than 25	1 Large Kit per 25 Employees

BS 8599-2 COMPLIANT MOTORIST KITS+

BS 8599-2 COMPLIANT MOTORIST KIT

From February 2013 a new British Standard for the contents of motor vehicle first aid kits has been established. Developed in partnership with the BHTA, BSI (British Standards Institute), medical experts, manufacturers and key stakeholders.

The standard specifies the components of three sizes of first aid kits (small, medium and large) for use in motor vehicles.

The introduction of this standard will inform motorists on the suitable first aid equipment they should have to hand and encourage more drivers to have first aid readily available.

The correct first aid kit for each vehicle is determined by an assessment of the potential risks associated with that vehicle and the number of potential passengers.

BLANKETS & DRESSINGS+

WATER-JEL FIRE BLANKETS

Water-Jel fire blankets offer one of the quickest, easiest and most direct methods of administering emergency first aid burn care. When placed on a victim, our gel soaked blankets cool the skin, protect against airborne contamination, and help relieve pain all in one simple step, with no special training required. They can also be used to extinguish flames on a victim and smother small fires.

Our Water-Jel fire blankets are composed of a 100% worsted-wool carrier with an intercellular weaver capable of absorbing up to 13x its own weight. The wool is soaked in a water-based, water-soluble gel that is bacteriostatic and biodegradable.

The Water-Jel fire blankets are available in three sizes and are packaged in high-visibility, orange, wall-mountable canisters or pouches.
